

The air waves belong to the people. There is too much one sided news now. I want access to all views. I should not have to work so hard to get that. Many media outlets give half truths and, at times, no truths. They deride the those who tell the truth and those who want change for the good of the people. I believe that the rules should break up those big conglomerates that control too much. That is how Hitler, Sadaam and all dictators got their start. These conglomerates block independent thought and diminish jobs. Remember ATT, Standard oil and others? Sincerely, Bill Maloley
